

I am concerned that lobby money is being used to try and limit my access to a valuable information source. I have XM satellite Radio and It gives me lots of music and a great variety of programming. They also offer what I consider the best service available for Traffic and weather. I pay for this each month and consider this service a part of my bill. I would be very upset if the FCC blocks this content from my Radio.. What does this have to do with Radio safety and frequency interference. This is a great service and I would be missing this if your lobby money gets there way. Why dont they get there own frequency and play it on the air?Leave XM alone.

Sincerely,

Gary Gobeille
